

Article Overview

Outdoor distribution boxes in Jamaica are available in various materials and custom designs, with local manufacturers like EZ Pac Limited and Sterling Packaging providing tailored solutions.

Types of Outdoor Distribution Boxes

- o Plastic and Polyethylene Boxes Durable, weather-resistant, and suitable for outdoor electrical or utility distribution. Often used for telecommunications, power distribution, or municipal applications.
- o Metal Boxes (Steel or Aluminum) Provide high security and protection against environmental elements. Commonly used for electrical transformers, junctions, and outdoor utility installations.
- o Wooden or Composite Boxes Typically used for temporary or niche applications. Can be customized for specific sizes or protective requirements.
- o Custom Cardboard or Chipboard Boxes While primarily for packaging, some manufacturers offer reinforced or treated cardboard boxes for light-duty outdoor distribution or transport purposes .

Jamaican Manufacturers and Suppliers

- o EZ Pac Limited - Located at 385 Spanish Town Road, Kingston, EZ Pac offers a wide range of cartons, custom partitions, and protective packaging solutions. They provide custom cartons and reinforced boxes suitable for shipping and storage, which can be adapted for outdoor distribution needs .
- o Sterling Packaging - Based in Kingston, Sterling Packaging specializes in corrugated cardboard boxes, chipboard partitions, and custom packaging solutions. They are the only manufacturer of chipboard partitions in the English-speaking Caribbean, which can be used for protective outdoor distribution packaging .
- o Other Local Manufacturers - Jamaica has over 300 manufacturing companies, some of which produce packaging and distribution boxes. For specialized outdoor distribution boxes, contacting local B2B suppliers or custom packaging manufacturers through directories like Europages can help identify additional options .

Considerations for Selection

- o Material Durability - Choose boxes resistant to rain, UV exposure, and temperature fluctuations.
- o Size and Customization - Ensure the box fits the equipment or products being distributed. Many Jamaican manufacturers offer custom sizing.
- o Security Features - For electrical or sensitive equipment, consider lockable or reinforced boxes.
- o Compliance - Ensure boxes meet local utility or safety standards if used for electrical distribution. For businesses seeking custom outdoor distribution boxes in Jamaica, contacting EZ Pac Limited or Sterling Packaging directly is recommended to discuss specifications, materials, and bulk orders .
